Mother's Day is coming soon, so that means making the best gifts to show your love!

If your mom received flowers for Mother's Day, make sure not to simply throw them out into the trash! Instead, use them as the non-food source for your worms and lets them get some Mother's Day love too!

Wait, what!?

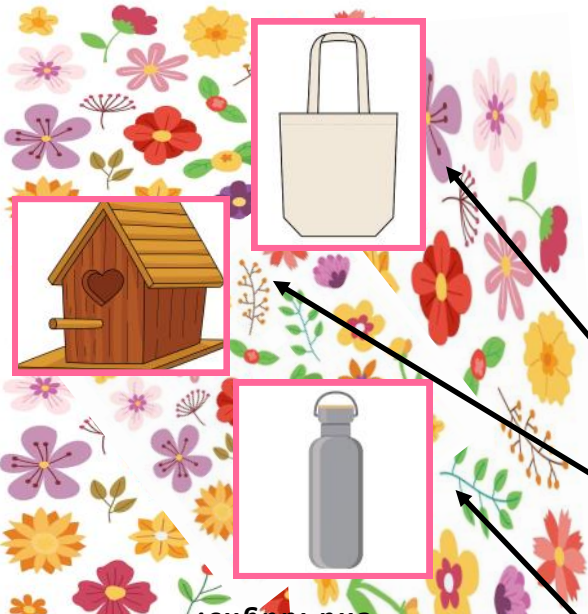

Did you know that the more calls are made on Mother's Day than any other day of the year?

Fun Fact!

Everyone has a mom or mother figure, but do you know who the biggest and most influential mother is? Mother Nature! She is what gives us the land we live on today, but we don't take good enough care of her! Throughout this year, you have been making an effort to be more environmentally friendly, and for that- Mother Nature thanks you! So keep reading to find out more ways to take care of her!

Gifts That Show You Care

Don't know what to get mom? Want to make sure she can use it all the time? Want an eco-friendly gift? Well, here are some ideas that cover all three of those criteria!

- Reusable Tote Bag: try and bring it up with dad or another trusted adult that you want to buy your mom a reusable bag that she can take shopping and anywhere on the go! You can decorate it with fabric markers or give it as is!
- Bird Feeder: if your mom likes birds, go to any dollar store and get one of the DIY bird feeders

Tickle it's middle and see which
